

Commonwealth Parenting Center Annual Report: January 2003 - December 2003

Our Mission: To strengthen families of metropolitan Richmond and surrounding areas by helping parents help themselves through education, support and skill development.

Our Goals:

- To serve families of every race, creed, color and socio-economic level in metropolitan Richmond and surrounding communities
- To help parents gain and develop the abilities to love, nurture, and guide their children
- To help parents build upon their strengths and develop skills needed to meet the challenges of raising children from infancy to adolescence.

Commonwealth Parenting Center is a non-profit, tax-exempt organization under section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code. Gifts made to Commonwealth Parenting Center are fully tax deductible.

Our Programs and Services:

CPC is now affiliated with Bon Secours Richmond as a part of the Family Health Institute located in Innsbrook, Glen Allen , VA.

Our family-focused classes, Speakers' Bureau presentations, website, targeted topic sheets and newsletters enhance the skills that enable children to become confident, productive, and contributing members of our community.

To address specific concerns, CPC offers private consultations, developmental screening and educational assessments.

By serving all economic and ethnic populations, CPC helps strengthen the community and address challenges such as poor academic performance, teen pregnancy, relatives raising children and safety issues in an increasingly violent society.

Each year CPC serves over 5,000 families through our classes, speakers, public events, assessments, newsletters and consultations.

We are thankful for our corporate sponsors, donors, grant funders, volunteers, and dedicated staff who help make CPC services available.
